"I'm new to this"

What stood out as you listened to the talk today?

What surprised you/inspired or challenged you?

What might your next step be?

LISTENING LOUNGE

"I want to implement something straight away"

What thing(s) might you adapt in your setting because of what you heard today and why?

LISTENING LOUNGE

"I want to take time to really reflect on this"

How can we offer support that is holistic and or individualised enough to meet a person's needs, rather than expecting them to have to focus on one aspect of themselves in order to get support?

LISTENING LOUNGE

"I learn through stories"

What stories do you have of intersectionality (that you can safely share) and what helped in that situation when the person encountered difficulty?

LISTENING LOUNGE

"I am curious how this applies in my setting"

Looking at the wheel of power, how might this theme of intersectionality apply in your setting? How might you go about finding out, in order to support people more effectively?
